PREFACE

The muster rolls were created from the Compiled Service Records of Volunteer Soldiers Who Served During the Mexican War in Organizations From the State of Texas, National Archives Microcopy No. 278. Names of the soldiers were carried as they were spelled in the official records except abbreviated first names were spelled out. Alternate spellings of first and of last names were placed in parenthesis whenever a doubt existed as to the proper spelling or whenever a soldier's name appeared in the records with more than one spelling.

If a number follows a volunteer's name or rank, this was his age at the time he mustered into federal service. Because of the inexactness of the service records and the difficulty of determining which was the correct age, two ages were listed in some instances.

Company muster-in dates for federal service located at the beginning of each company roster means just that—company muster-in date. Although most soldiers found on a company muster roll were original members, men were added throughout the company's active military service. Researchers, therefore, interested in a particular soldier should check the official records for his muster-in date.

Only the officers and the non-commissioned officers at the time the company was mustered into federal service and positive identification of rank were listed as original officers and non-commissioned officers. It was for these reasons that some companies were not listed with a full complement of officers and non-commissioned officers. Volunteers who were carried in the service records as musicians were designated for consistency as buglers on the regimental and the company rosters.

Since there were errors discovered in the organizational tables of the Compiled Service Records, the reorganization of some units was necessary. Henry W. Barton's Texas Volunteers in the Mexican War was a very helpful source in restructuring the Texas units.

I am greatly obliged to Gladus Woods who demonstrated again her typing skill, to Virginia Allen who helped secure for me needed microfilm, to Carolyn Ericson for her vote of confidence by publishing this work, and to my wife Pat who was always available when I needed her to check and to verify information recorded from the official records.
