

83 BALLOTS BRING NO NOMINATION

M'ADOO STEADILY LOSES GROUND AS FREE-FOR-ALL CONTEST CONTINUES

CONVENTION ADJOURNED UNTIL 8:30 TONIGHT-- NO NOTICEABLE SWING TOWARD COMPROMISE CANDIDATE.

(Associated Press.)
Madison Square Garden, N. Y., July 7.—The Democratic convention today released all its delegates from further obligations to any candidate for the presidency, but the step did not bring immediately the relief its sponsors had hoped.

Presented with formal endorsement of all of the 15 candidates who are opposing Wm. G. McAdoo, the resolution for release of delegates from their instructions received an overwhelming majority after the McAdoo managers themselves had passed the word along that it would not be advisable to oppose it.

Then the convention took one more ballot before adjourning until evening, but it revealed no material change as a result of the new situation created by the resolution of release. One or two McAdoo states wavered, but finally stood firm and in the end the McAdoo column showed a small gain instead of a loss.

The record for the day as a whole, however, told a different story, due to further heavy attacks on McAdoo delegations from all sides and efforts to put forward several favorite sons in the hope that they would prove a rallying point for the worn out convention. Glass, of Virginia, made appreciable gain, crowding John W. Davis out of third place, but still lagging far behind the two leaders, while all the other candidates except McAdoo about held their own.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Mississippi accounted for the bulk of the McAdoo losses, which at adjournment had brought his total to 418, or 65 less votes than he had on the last ballot before the ever-Sunday adjournment. On the eighty-third ballot, the last of today's session, he was 112 votes below the high water mark he had reached on the sixty-ninth ballot last week.

Smith's total vote fluctuated but narrowly during the day, and closed at 333, the highest he had yet attained although it is but one more vote than he had on the final ballot Saturday. Glass climbed during the day from 27 to 76, while Davis' total fell from 76 and a half to 72 and a half.

CORONER'S JURY PROBES TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. PRESNALL

Jury Visits Scene of Reported Accident—Doctor Suffering From Nervous Breakdown Since Occurrence.

Investigation of the tragic death of Mrs. May James Presnall, wife of Dr. C. W. Presnall of this city, who was fatally injured late on the night of July 4, while driving with her husband on the Stone-wall highway, near Segundo, was begun today by the district attorney and coroner when a coroner's jury was summoned and inquest held at the court house. A number of witnesses were questioned and this afternoon the jury was taken to the scene of the reported accident for further investigation. Dr. Presnall has suffered a nervous breakdown since the sad affair and has been at the hospital where he has been visited by a number of his friends including many of his professional colleagues. Yesterday and today, it was reported, he was making good progress in recovering from the shock so as to converse with those who came to see him. The inquest verdict may be returned upon the return of the jury from inspecting the place of the accident.

The principal witness at the inquest today was J. P. Coyle, mine clerk at Segundo, who found Dr. Presnall and his injured wife on the road early Saturday morning and brought them to Trinidad.

Dr. O. F. Adams was the first witness called. He had been called about 3 a. m. July 5 to the Presnall home by Jess C. Coyle. Dr. Adams said he had found Mrs. Presnall lying on the bed in a comatose condition with a very weak pulse and had administered artificial respiration. He had called Dr. Frodensthal.

Dr. Adams supplied a version of the tragic affair as told to him by Dr. Presnall. He testified that Dr. Presnall had told him that he and his wife could not sleep and had picked up a camping outfit and had set out for Stovey Hill; the doctor expecting to start back early next day and stop at Weston for a professional call. He had done so this way as Mrs. Presnall drove the car. Dr. Presnall had been started into wakefulness by hearing his wife exclaim, "He hit me," and that Mrs. Presnall had fallen out of the car over the embankment and that he had gone down after her, brought her up, he did not know how.

Dr. Adams said that Dr. Presnall was in an extremely nervous condition at the home and that while he was in another room he had been attracted to the room where Presnall was and found the letter on the floor in hysterics. As to the condition of the body of Mrs. Presnall, Dr. Adams testified in technical terms of a fracture of the skull and dislocation of the first

SOME FILIPINO TROOPS STRIKE

(By Associated Press.)
Manila, June 7.—A number of Filipino soldiers of the seventh infantry, refused to perform duty. It is reported a Bohemian organization has been formed among them. The refusal to perform duty resulted from a raid carried out last Saturday night on a small group of Filipinos at Fort McKinley. A number of the raid is that all the Filipinos on duty there are suspected of Bolshevik activities. The infantrymen continue their action which was taken this morning as a possible strike for the purpose of obtaining increased pay and allowances. These are less in the case of Filipino soldiers than for white soldiers. Saturday's raid resulted from information reaching officers that a Bohemian secret organization was being formed among the troops with

NOTED BUSINESS SPEAKER TO GIVE ADDRESS AT COURT HOUSE TONIGHT

L. H. Buisch, noted speaker on business topics will address a meeting arranged by the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce at the district court room at the court house this evening at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to hear this address and it is particularly urged that merchants and their employees be present. Mr. Buisch will have a message of exceeding interest. He has addressed Chambers of Commerce, Retail Merchant's Associations, and other groups of merchants in different parts of the United States. "Whatever he" has spoken, merchants have been enthusiastic, and the local press has been loud in its praise of the way he has treated his subjects. Mr. Buisch has had years of experience in the merchandising world. His addresses are built on a careful study of the successes and failures of thousands of merchants. Highly practical, he discloses the every day problems of merchants and salespeople in their language. His points are illustrated with large charts and diagrams. On

He makes every point clear. His address is no "airy tale." It is a speech from the shoulder.

Coroner's Jury Probes Tragic Death of Mrs. Presnall

Jury visits scene of reported accident – doctor suffering from nervous breakdown since occurrence

Investigation of the tragic death of Mrs. May James Presnall, wife of Dr. C. W. Presnall, of this city, who was fatally injured late on the night of July 4, while driving with her husband on the stonewall highway, near Segunda, was begun today by the district attorney and coroner when a coroner's jury was summoned and inquest held at the court house. A number of witnesses were questioned and this afternoon the jury was taken to the scene of the reported accident for further investigation. Dr. Presnall has suffered a nervous breakdown since the sad affair and has been at the hospital where he has been visited by a number of his friends including many of his professional colleagues. Yesterday and today, it was reported, he was making good progress in recovering from the shock so as to converse with those who came to see him. The inquest verdict may be returned upon the return of the jury from inspecting the place of the accident.

The principal witness at the inquest today was J. P. Coyle mine clerk at Segundo who found Dr. Presnall and his injured wife on the road early Saturday morning and brought them to Trinidad.

Dr. O. F. Adams was the first witness called. He had been called about 3 a.m. July 5 to the Presnall home by Jess C Coyle. Dr Adams said he found Mrs. Presnall lying on the bed in a comatose condition with a very weak pulse and had administered artificial respiration. He had called Dr. Freudenthal.

Dr. Freudenthal was called next and said he had been called to the Presnall home by Dr. Adams between 3:30 and 4 a.m. July 5 and had also found Coyle there.
