Hominy Cemetery

The A. J. Powell Cemetery (formerly Hominy Cemetery) is located 1 mile north of Hominy, OK on Highway 99. It was established about 1912 when several Hominy businessmen bought the parcel of land in the southeast corner of Township 22N Range 8E Section 25 in Osage County. Prior to 1912 burials were made in the old Indian cemetery located on the Osage Reservation in Hominy or in private cemeteries on ranches throughout Osage County. There are 127 Sections in the Hominy Cemetery. Some large sections have as many as 100+ but the average is 60. Each section has 20 lots with larger sections having 40 lots. Some of the older sections have 7 to 8 people buried in each lot. Today sections hold 4 persons per lot.
